

Search

Finding you can be a hell of a job sometimes
But I know you're out there, you're somewhere out there.

Did you ride the red train
Somewhere down the line,
And did you leave a black note
That might've explained why?

Did you know that I, I got lost myself
In all the broken promises that you left behind.
But nothing gets lost in the wind if it can be helped somehow,
If you can find a way back into my arms.

Did you ride the red train
Somewhere down the line,
And did you leave a black note
That might've explained why?
Or did you leave me
In search of someone else?
But did you know that I
Had already got out?

(Bridge)

Finding you can be a hell of a job sometimes,
So why are you so hard on me when all I want is you?

Memories that will stick with me until the end of time
I told them I'd get you back and by god I'm gonna try.

So I'm coming after you
Hunt you down to the ends of the earth,
Until I've found you
Coz you're the only one I wanna love.
And I will follow you
Down any dusty trail,
Through the biggest hills
Count on me and I will not fail.