

This Night Will Bring...

I'll let the rain fall
For the love I let go,
No more closed doors
Only the night that has to embrace the dawn.
I wonder what this night will bring...

Only perception will lose the game
When they finally find a name,
No more broken hearts
To remind all of us.

I wonder what this night will bring
And will the shadows remind?

I'll let the streets crack and burn
As the evening grows dim,
No more empty fields
Only a chance to run for your lives.
I wonder what this night will bring...

Only perception will lose the game
When they finally find a way,
To cure all the broken hearts
In this paradise of shame.

I wonder what this night will bring,
And what heights will the shadows climb?

Only perception will lose the game
In this paradise of shame.